

2018 Elections

The ELM Action Fund PAC, along with our Independent Expenditure PAC, endorses candidates that value combating climate change and protecting our land, water, and public health. We post social media ads, send mailings, make phone calls, and knock on doors to educate voters about the environmental candidates in their district.

In 2018 we endorsed 58 candidates and 46 won their races.

3,190 doors knocked and 10,302 phone calls made

26,400 pieces of mail sent

Over 300,000 voters reached by digital ads

Elect

We helped elect promising newcomers to open seats. Representative-elect David LeBoeuf won in the 17th Worcester district with a clear environmental message. Representative-elect Tami Gouveia will take the seat left vacant by the retirement of Representative Cory Atkins, continuing a strong environmental legacy for the 14th Middlesex district.

We successfully defended Representative Joan Meschino, Representative Natalie Higgins, Senator Jamie Eldridge, and Senator Anne Gobi against challengers, helping them retain their seats and allowing them to continue being strong allies in the State House.

Defend

We helped an ELM Action Fund endorsed candidate flip the 18th Essex district, defeating a vocal opponent of environmental progress. Representative-elect Tram Nguyen overcame the odds to defeat Representative Jim Lyons, one of the lowest scoring legislators on the ELM Action Fund scorecard.
